8. The fifth application of the applicant under Section 439 of the CrPC for grant of regular bail was dismissed by the learned Trial Court vide order dated 18.03.2024.

9. The learned counsel for the applicant submits that the applicant has been falsely implicated in the present case.

10. He submits that the victim (PW1) and the victim's brother (PW2) have already been examined and they have not supported the case of the prosecution.

11. He submits that the applicant is from the poor strata of society and is the sole bread winner of his family, which includes his two minor children, his wife and his widowed mother.

12. He submits that the trial is likely going to take a considerable amount of time as the matter is still at the stage of prosecution evidence.

13. It is contended by the learned counsel for the applicant that the applicant is on bail in all the other cases that he is involved in

14. The learned Additional Public Prosecutor ('APP') for the State opposes the grant of any relief to the applicant. He submits that the offence alleged in the present case is heinous in nature and attracts a minimum punishment of imprisonment for life.

19. It is settled law that the Court, while considering the application for grant of bail, has to keep certain factors in mind, such as, whether there is a prima facie case or reasonable ground to believe that the accused has committed the offence; the nature and gravity of the accusation; severity of the punishment in the event of conviction; the danger of the accused absconding or fleeing if released on bail; reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being threatened; etc.

20. It is pointed out that the victim in his statement before the learned Trial Court on 20.07.2023 had stated that he could not see the face of the assailants as they had covered the same with a cloth. Similarly, the victim's brother, on the same day, in his statement before the learned Trial Court had stated that he had received a call that "somebody" had fired on his brother, whereafter, he went to the spot of the incident and took him to the hospital.

21. It is thus apparent that the victim and his brother have turned hostile. It is settled law that the statement of a witness is only a piece of evidence, and for the purpose of conviction, the corroborated part of the evidence of a hostile witness regarding the commission of the offence is to be treated as admissible (Ref. Mrinal Das v. State of Tripura: (2011) 9 SCC 479).

22. The Trial Court while deciding the case has to consider the entire material on record, and can definitely look into the circumstances and other evidence put forth by the defence while passing the judgment. The learned Trial Court, in such circumstances, can also exercise the discretion to recall the witnesses under Section 311 of the CrPC for fresh cross-examination if the same is needed to ensure a fair trial.

23. While multiple involvements of the applicant in other This is a digitally signed order.

The Order is downloaded from the DHC Server on 26/04/2024 at 21:44:31 criminal cases alone is not sufficient to deny bail, this Court cannot entirely ignore that the applicant is involved in about 60 cases and that the prior antecedents of the applicant are of serious nature. The antecedents of the applicant include multiple offences of theft and robbery and those under the Arms Act, 1959. The applicant has already been convicted and undergone the sentence in FIR No.665/2013 for the offences under Sections 356/379 of the IPC and FIR No. 214/2013 for the offences under Sections 356/379/34 of the IPC.

24. It is apparent that when the applicant gets a bail in one case, he commits an offence again. While this cannot be the sole ground to deny bail to an accused person, this Court cannot lose sight of the fact that such persons are a threat to the society and ought not to be released on bail for the sole reason that the victim has turned hostile.

25. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Gudikanti Narasimhulu v. Public Prosecutor, High Court of A.P. : (1978) 1 SCC 240 had observed as under:

"Thus the legal principles and practice validate the Court considering the likelihood of the applicant interfering with witnesses for the prosecution or otherwise polluting the process of justice. It is not only traditional but rational, in this context, to enquire into the antecedents of a man who is applying for bail to find whether he has a bad record -- particularly a record which suggests that he is likely to commit serious offences while on bail. In regard to habituals, it is part of criminological history that a thoughtless bail order has enabled the bailee to exploit the opportunity to inflict further crimes on the members of society. Bail discretion, on the basis of evidence about the criminal record of a defendant is therefore not an exercise in irrelevance."

26. It is the duty of the Court to ensure that the witnesses are This is a digitally signed order.

The Order is downloaded from the DHC Server on 26/04/2024 at 21:44:31 not under any threat which prevents them from deposing truthfully. As discussed, the victim and his brother have resiled from their initial statements and taken a diametrically opposite stand now.

27. It is true that delay in trial is one of the factors that has to be considered, however, the same alone cannot be a reason to enlarge an accused person on bail [Ref. State of Kerala v. Raneef: 2011(1) SCC 784].

28. Therefore, considering the facts of the present case, this Court is of the opinion that this is not a fit case for exercise of discretion under Section 439 of CrPC.

29. The application is, therefore, dismissed.

30. It is, however, made clear that any observations made in the present order are only for the purpose of deciding the present bail application, and should not be treated as an opinion on the merits of the case and also should not influence the outcome of the trial.
